Now the police are after you, and you want to protect your place of business. Dope Wars 2 is a video game based on the popular series of computer games Dope Wars. It was released in 2003 for the Game Boy Advance. Players can play as one of several well-known characters: Krazy, Mista, Barak, Shaq-n, Dagda, Iceman, Smiley, Rasta, or Leeroy. There are five levels in the game: a lobby, a cave, a subway, an underpass, and a bodega. Players can walk around the levels to explore them and collect "sketches", which will unlock other parts of the level. Players can collect money to get new weapons and buy new cars to drive around the streets of the level. Players can also chat with other characters. There are 22 characters that can be selected by the player to be their character. In the game, users will be able to defeat their opponents. The style of gameplay is similar to the previous game in the Dope Wars series. On September 8, 2003, the Game Boy Advance was released in Japan. Plot Mista and Krazy are in a battle of wits against a drug lord named Renato (an homage to the game Dope Wars), in a large underground cave on the game board. Mista and Krazy team up against Renato's goons, who have been robbing drug traffickers and stealing their money and dope. Reception IGN gave the game 7.3 out of 10, praising the gameplay as "fast-paced, frenetic and addicting". GameSpot gave the game 3 out of 5, praising the cartoon like graphics and quick-paced gameplay, but criticizing the player's inability to create characters.
